PREPARING FOR THE BIG ONE... AND THE LITTLE ONES IN BETWEEN

Earthquakes are not a foreign concept for most Southern Californians; earthquake preparedness, however, is not a commonly discussed topic in most households. As "The Big One" continues to be predicted in Southern California along the San Andreas Fault, earthquake preparedness is important for community resilience after a major earthquake or even after a moderate earthquake.

Earthquake preparedness encompasses building performance improvements through retrofits, as well as making plans for infrastructure disruptions. Some of the commonly known seismic hazards for single-family residences include unbraced-wood cripple wall foundations and unbraced-brick chimneys. Retrofit programs such as "Earthquake Brace and Bolt" by the California Residential Mitigation Program are important resources for homeowners to address some of the above seismic hazards. Additionally, proper anchorage of water heaters, large bookshelves, and large appliances will also reduce risk of interior damage during an earthquake.

Another component of earthquake preparedness is household plans for

Steps For Earthquake Preparedness
1	Identify potential hazards in your home and begin to fix them!
2	Create a disaster preparedness plan
3	Prepare disaster supply kits
4	Identify your building's potential weakness and begin to fix them
5	Protecting yourself during earthquake shaking-DROP, COVER AND HOLD ON
6	After the earthquake, check for injuries and damage.
7	When safe, continue to follow your disaster preparedness plan.

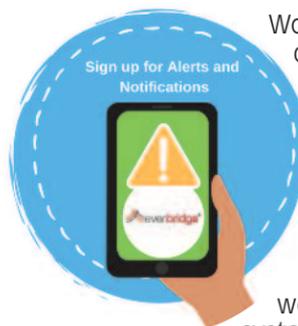

any infrastructure disruption that may be caused by earthquake damage. This includes having enough water and food at the house to last a family a few days, plans for communicating with loved ones in-state or out-of-state if phone lines are down, and identifying locations of gas lines and water lines if localized damage occurs.

The Structural Engineers Association of Southern California has additional resources about earthquake education, preparedness as well as tools to find an engineer to address specific needs for single-family residences. Go to www.redcross.org for more information on preparing your home and family for an earthquake.

CRIME BUSTER CORNER

IF WE CAN'T REACH YOU, WE CAN'T ALERT YOU

Would you like to receive a text, email or phone call to alert you and your loved ones in a disaster? RPV residents will soon have the opportunity to sign up for the City's emergency notification system. The City Council recently approved RPV's participation in a multi-jurisdictional 3-year pilot program with 13 South Bay cities that are within the Area G Disaster Management Area of Los Angeles County. Staff from these cities are working together to create an interoperable system to better alert residents in the case of an emergency. In the coming months, City Staff will provide additional information to residents about how to sign-up and about the emergency notification system.

For additional information contact Jacqueline Ruiz, Administrative Analyst in the City Manager's Office, at 310.544.5305 or jruiz@rpvca.gov

DON'T WAIT-COMMUNICATE

One way to make your neighborhood safer is by sharing real-time crime and safety alerts with neighbors. Stay a step ahead of crime by being proactive.

Any RPV resident can download the Ring Neighbors app today on a smart phone or tablet, regardless if you own a Ring device at your home. The app allows users to anonymously share alerts and videos with their neighbors. Ring has partnered with RPV to test a pilot program and will provide 100 free ring devices for pre-identified neighborhoods if 1,300 residents download the app. Help us reach the goal!

DON'T BE DEFENCIVE!

Robert Frost famously penned that "Good fences make good neighbors." Whether he was being ironic or not, it's certainly not true if they're broken or in ill repair. National politics aside, if you come across broken fencing or other potentially unsafe and unsightly conditions while enjoying a City park or open space area, please take a second and let the City know.

There are a couple of ways to do this. For City parks and public right-of-ways, call Public Works at 310.544.5252 or submit a City Service Request, found on the home page of the City's webpage at <http://www.rpvca.gov/>

For repair work in Preserve and open space areas, email trails@rpvca.gov or call the Recreation and Parks Department at 310.544.5200. Thanks for helping us fix our fences!

DON'T RAIN ON MY PARADE TRAIL

PRESERVE TRAIL CLOSURES DURING AND AFTER RAIN

Rain is wonderful for the environment and reservoirs, but it can be rough on trails. Periodic rain is essential for a healthy natural habitat in the Palos Verdes Nature Preserve and contributes to the lush green environment we often experience there, especially in the winter and spring.

Most of the Preserve's trails are dirt which benefit from mild precipitation levels that keep the dust levels down and can cool off the area after a hot day. As more rain falls over a few hours or days, however, the trails can become muddy, pool with water or sustain erosion damage. The City follows the accepted practice of closing the trails to public use during and after these rain events.

Preserve trails are closed during and following a substantial rain to avoid unsafe conditions and to protect habitat and trails. Patrons using trails when they are wet can cause damaging ruts and widen the paths when they bypass the muddy areas by stepping through the adjacent habitat. City Staff evaluates trail conditions and, if warranted, closes the trails. Staff will place closure signage at most trailheads. To allow trails to dry out, they may remain closed up to 48 hours or more after the last rainfall. To find current trail closures, please check trailsalerts.rpvca.gov. For more info, contact trails@rpvca.gov.
