ONE-ON-ONE WITH LOMITA SHERIFF'S STATION CAPTAIN JAMES POWERS

Congratulations to newly-named Lomita Sheriff's Station Captain James Powers! Captain Powers took some time to answer questions about his life, career in law enforcement, and crime trends.

Tell us a little bit about where you were brought up, your education, how you chose a career in law enforcement, and your prior assignments.

I grew up in Artesia and graduated from St. John Bosco High School in Bellflower where I played football and wrestled all four years. I later coached wrestling there for five years. I earned my AA degree in criminal justice management from Cerritos College and a BS degree in criminal justice management from Union Institute & University.

Law enforcement was a natural fit because I was always fascinated and intrigued by the field. I taught Community Policing, Problem Solving, and Partnerships in the Community at the Sheriff's Training Academy. I am certified through the California Peace Officer Standards and Training (POST). I also have facilitated trainings in California and several other states including Nobility of Policing, Policing at the Speed of Trust, and FOCUS-Achieving Your Highest Priorities.

I've worn many hats during my law enforcement career. Prior to my current posting, I was a lieutenant with the Internal Affairs Bureau at the Lakewood Station Service Area and the Inmate Services Bureau Business Management Unit. I served as a Sergeant with the Regional Community Policing Institute Training Bureau, the Norwalk Station and the Men's Central Jail. Before that, I was a patrol deputy/detective at the Lakewood Station and a deputy at the Men's Central Jail.

What are the biggest law-enforcement challenges facing the City of Rancho Palos Verdes and the Palos Verdes Peninsula?

The biggest challenge is keeping the crime rate low. Being responsive to quality of life concerns and addressing the perception of danger versus the reality of danger is another difficult issue, along with homelessness, mental illness, and personal safety.

Managing budgets is always a challenge whether you work at a City or a Sheriff's Department. What are your main budgeting priorities looking forward?

The top priority is ensuring we provide quality service to the community, while effectively managing the deployment of personnel.

What projects/achievements are you most proud of during your time in law enforcement?

An incident that stands out from my time with Internal Affairs involved a veteran and getting him the help he needed to manage his quality of life. This success story was shared on ABC 7 with an interview of the veteran, his mother, and myself. At Lomita Station, I'm proud of the Sheriff's Town Hall and National Night Out, but look forward to more accomplishments in the future.

The Ring Program and ALPR cameras are high tech devices whose use has expanded greatly in recent years. What do you see as the role of technology in crime fighting and what steps can/should RPV residents take?

Technology has produced some great results. I monitor this very closely and utilize whatever I can to solve crime and prevent crime. The sophistication of camera technology is improving daily. A lot of residents have invested in camera systems and I encourage that. It is very valuable for law enforcement and assists us with solving crime. It can also be a deterrent for criminals and prevent them from committing crimes. If residents have not considered some sort of preventative measure, I strongly recommend it.

Many crime indicators are down in RPV in recent years which is wonderful news. What do you attribute that to, and what are your plans for maintaining that positive direction?

I think proactive residents practicing "see something, say something", involvement in neighborhood watch, keeping your eyes open,

SPOTLIGHT ON EASTVIEW PARK

Looking for a new park to visit? There's a hidden gem on the City's eastside, that definitely merits a visit. Eastview Park has been around for many years, but it's had a recent makeover. Upgraded walking paths, a popular large and small dog park (with grass), fantastic play equipment for the kids and an expansive lawn area are just a few of this 9.9-acre park's many attractions. Eastview is also a staffed park, with a small building where park patrons can get park information and check out games and sports equipment. Eastview Park has also been the site of recent special events including Movies in the Park and a Fourth of July Bark Party. Eastview Park, located at 1700 Westmont Drive, is open daily, one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset. The Staff office number is 310.544.5269.

LAST CALL FOR ALCOHOL IN CITY PARKS

The City Council recently banned the possession and consumption of alcohol in City facilities, which includes all parks, beaches, the Palos Verdes Nature Preserve and other open space areas. Consumption of alcohol is also banned in all public places. Almost all cities in Los Angeles County and throughout the State of California already have similar bans in place, but Rancho Palos Verdes' prohibition went into effect on September 6. Prior to that date, alcohol was legal at City parks. Alcohol can still be legally consumed at locations or events that have City permission. Typical examples include indoor rentals at park sites or beer/wine gardens at special events, such as the Fourth of July or Whale of a Day celebrations. Fines start at $100 for a first violation. For more information go to Chapter 12.16 of the Municipal Code available at rpvca.gov

HAVE YOU HEARD OF THE "NEAR REPEAT" CRIME PHENOMENON?

"Researchers have found that once a crime has occurred, additional crimes are more likely to occur in nearby areas within a short period of time producing a pattern called 'near repeat.' Empirical research has clearly identified the existence of both a repeat (same target, another crime) and a near-repeat phenomenon for crimes such as burglary, robbery, weapons violations and other crimes."

-June 2018 Police Foundation Strategy Brief "Near Repeat Crime"

Learning this, staff began sending targeted messages through NextDoor earlier this calendar year to a radius of residents surrounding incidents of residential burglaries and robberies, vehicle burglaries, and thefts from unlocked vehicles, to help combat near-repeat crime patterns. In these messages, residents are educated about the increased likelihood that their neighborhood may again be affected, given safety tips, and are informed that the Sheriff's Department is available to perform home safety audits. While the City's figure of 94 residential burglaries continues to remain as one of the lowest in the past decade, the 2019 rate is trending lower with 24 residential burglaries in the first quarter and 13 in the second quarter, for a total of 37 the first half of the year. Sign up at Nextdoor.com to stay abreast of crimes happening in your neighborhood and remember to "See Something, Say Something."

HABITAT RESTORATION AT ABALONE COVE RESERVE

You may have noticed some interesting activity taking place at Abalone Cove Reserve this summer. The Palos Verdes Peninsula Land Conservancy (PVPLC) is engaged in a three-year habitat restoration project that involves planting the bluffs with 15 acres of coastal sage scrub habitat to support the federally endangered California gnatcatcher and El Segundo blue butterfly, and repairing trails and installing interpretive signs. Invasive plant species removal began this summer and irrigation installation and planting will begin this fall. For information about volunteer opportunities, please contact info@pvplc.org.

This habitat restoration project is one component of the City's draft Natural Community Conservation Plan/Habitat Conservation Plan which serves the dual purposes of setting aside regional open spaces for species preservation, while streamlining appropriate development and economic growth. As part of this plan, the City partners with the PVPLC to manage the habitat within the City's 1,400 acre Nature Preserve. The PVPLC's habitat management efforts include planting five acres of new native habitat annually, removing invasive species in project areas, biological monitoring, and engaging the community through volunteer opportunities. The Rancho Palos Verdes City Council will consider final adoption of the plan this fall. For more information, contact trails@rpvca.gov.

YEAR-ROUND FIRE DANGER

Fire risk and fire containment is no longer a seasonal concern, but a year-round priority for the LA County Fire Department and City residents. All of RPV is in a high fire risk area, so prevention and planning is crucial. What can you do as a resident to be ready?

Download Cal Fire's Ready for Wildfire app on your smartphone! After downloading the app, follow the wildfire preparation checklist so that you can prepare your home and family before a wildfire strikes. Visit <http://www.readyforwildfire.org/Ready-for-Wildfire-App/> for additional information.

SMOKING PROHIBITION

Fire risk is especially high in open space areas and the Palos Verdes Nature Preserve. Smoking in any City park or preserve/open space area is illegal. So if we chokey on your smokey, you might get thrown in the pokey (a fine actually, but that doesn't rhyme).

A LESS TAXING CITY

ELIMINATION OF HOME OCCUPANCY BUSINESS LICENSE TAX

During the August 6 Council meeting, the City Council approved the adoption of Ordinance No. 623, whose primary purpose is to eliminate the annual business license tax for home occupancy businesses. This makes it clear that the requirement to obtain a business license is limited to businesses that are physically located within the City of Rancho Palos Verdes and/or conducting work in such a manner that requires their physical presence within the City.

This annual business license tax was eliminated to promote the continued growth of these individuals and their businesses. In addition to supporting our home based businesses, the City will likely experience an overall decrease in traffic by removing the need for these individuals to visit City Hall to submit payment for a business license.

The elimination of the annual business license tax for home occupancy businesses, along with several modifications to the City's municipal code pertaining to the business license tax, went into effect on September 6.

ARE YOU READY FOR DISASTER? TAKE THE #READYRPV CHALLENGE FOR A CHANCE TO WIN!

Did you know that Rancho Palos Verdes is the most populated California city with 90% or more of residents living in a Cal Fire-designated Very High Fire Hazard Severity Zone?

With California's fire seasons worsening in length and severity, it is imperative that residents take steps to prepare themselves for when disaster strikes.

Put your preparedness to the test with the Ready RPV Challenge!

The contest runs during the month of September (National Preparedness Month) and ends October 12 (the final day of Fire Prevention Week). RPV residents who prepare or purchase an emergency kit, complete the Los Angeles County Fire Department's "Ready! Set! Go!" CAPTAIN JAMES POWERS (Continued from page 1) communicating with your neighbors and law enforcement, are all contributing factors. The sophisticated deployment of camera systems, alarm systems, and other internal tools of law enforcement have also impacted the stats.

I plan to stay on top of the technology, continue to implement it, and educate my staff and the community on new innovations. I also believe in good old fashioned communication as well. Effective communication is a key component of community policing, problem solving, and partnerships with the community. My plan is to improve and achieve an even higher level of effectiveness.

RPV has a low incidence of violent crime, but any city can experience sudden and tragic crimes, such as the recent mass shootings in Gilroy, Dayton, El Paso, and Odessa. How ready is your station to deal with such a shocking and rapidly escalating situation?

We are prepared to deal with any type of emergent situation. I have already reviewed our readiness, and I am very confident. I have prior experience in this particular field. I personally travelled to Virginia Tech University after that incident and also Aurora, Colorado after the movie theater incident. I have presented publicly on the responses/actions of law enforcement, and I have also presented to school administrators regarding their roles/responsibilities. This is, unfortunately, something we have to discuss and prepare for in today's climate. Failing to prepare is preparing to fail.

On the lighter side, how do you spend your leisure time? Do you have a favorite book? Movie? TV Show? Sports team?

I love to hike and bike with my wife. We've been married 31 years this September. I love leadership books; my favorite is probably Man's Search for Meaning by Viktor Frankl.

My favorite movie is hard to say: I love funny movies (important to laugh), but I like action-packed movies too, such as "We Were Soldiers."

TV Shows: My wife and I enjoy watching "Dateline" and predicting the outcome.

Sports Teams: No favorites, but I enjoy baseball, and college and high school football.
