

MAYORS OF THE SOUTH BAY CITIES OF CALIFORNIA

September 16, 2020

Honorable Governor Gavin Newsom
State of California State Capitol
Sacramento, CA 95814

Dear Governor Newsom,

RE: Request Consideration of the State of California to permit the cities in the South Bay Region of Los Angeles County to open businesses consistent with the Red Tier for COVID-19

For the past six months the City of Torrance and the other cities of the South Bay Region of Los Angeles County (South Bay) have complied with COVID-19 protocols and mandates of the State of California and the Los Angeles County. As you are aware, Los Angeles County is unique in that it is comprised of 88 cities with unique characteristics, demographics, and businesses and a population of more than 10 million people.

The State and the County have made great strides in opening and reopening businesses. It is imperative that the State take a regional approach to Los Angeles County because of the number of jurisdictions and population which is more than three times that of San Diego and Orange Counties.

For example, the City of Torrance with a population of nearly 150,000 residents has a total of 1,340 COVID-19 cases with a death total of 67 with most of the deaths occurring at senior care facilities. Other South Bay cities have similar numbers. Given the relatively low infection and deaths rates in the South Bay, we request that you consider granting a variance for our region for possible reopening of business sectors in the South Bay. Based on the state's new tier system, if the South Bay is considered a region, we are certain that we could move into a less restrictive tier much sooner than LA County as a whole.

Our small businesses are hurting financially and are at the crossroads of making tough decisions to close their doors for good. As we know small businesses are crucial for our economic growth. In the South Bay we are home to major shopping centers that are ready to open their doors to the community. It is not equitable that large box stores are open but malls, movie theaters, and other businesses remain close.

As we continue the reopening phase we need to move quickly, deliberately and cautiously to get our businesses open and thriving once again. It is important that we continue to be driven by the scientific data and the unique needs of each community. The City of Torrance and all South Bay cities will continue to monitor community transmission rates, continue public education on safety protocols, and make adjustments by business sector. The safety and health of our residents, employees, businesses and visitors continues to be our primary objective. And, we firmly believe that our business community can reopen and we can maintain the public health in doing so.

Your consideration of this request is very much appreciated.

Sincerely,

Drew Boyles, Mayor
