

August 9, 2024

Dear Mr. Mihranian,

I am writing in response to your letter dated August 2, 2024, which addresses the pressing situation in Rancho Palos Verdes. I deeply appreciate your concern for the safety and well-being of the residents and businesses affected by the land movement. We are aligned on prioritizing the safety of the community, our employees, and the vulnerable customers that we serve.

Southern California Edison (SCE) is committed to providing our customers with reliable and safe electric service. We have been working closely with the City of Rancho Palos Verdes and other stakeholders to monitor and mitigate the impact of land movement on our infrastructure and operations. We are communicating regularly with our customers to inform them of the potential risks of outages and contingency plans.

We want to reassure you that we are working proactively to maintain service where it is safe and feasible to do so. We are moving forward with urgency to reconfigure portions of the electric system and install devices in the area to limit the impact of potential future outages should the hazardous conditions worsen. We appreciate the City's support in these efforts, as additional poles and overhead conductor will need to be installed in the coming months.

We are expediting the interconnection process for customers who choose to install self-generation systems, offering rebates or loans for backup batteries or generators, and where possible, providing connection points for the city to power its critical facilities. We will continue to collaborate with other utility providers to support the continuity of essential services where and when it is safe to do so, which includes communications service, dewatering wells and others you mentioned in your letter.

As the City knows, the situation continues to evolve and is unpredictable. To the extent conditions continue to deteriorate, SCE may be required to temporarily de-energize some circuits or portions of circuits, and we will continue to work on alternate service options. In addition, we may further be required to permanently discontinue service to some locations if necessary to maintain public safety.

We appreciate your support and cooperation in this matter and will continue to update you through our Liaison Officer assigned to the Incident Management Team or through Celina Luna.

Sincerely,
